A few words ...

Welcome to the third edition of our newsletter. It has been a busy period and we are delighted to share it with so many of you.

At the start of the year, we knew we faced a challenging time ahead. In order to succeed, we harnessed the strength of our business relationships and worked more closely together. We believe that our strategy was right on target.

In the last few weeks, we were Highly Commended in the RBS South London Business Awards for Best in Marketing where The Hammersley Business and Leisure Connection was recognised and hailed as a successful concept.

We want to show our continued support and commitment to all our clients, whether you are corporate, large or a smaller business. We believe that our efforts in hosting networking events, forging partnerships and instigating joined up thinking will create opportunities.

This newsletter features more of our partners including the Academy of Chief Executives, through whom we had the opportunity to host FW De Klerk and 135 business leaders.

We hope you continue to take advantage of our introductory offers and No Frills Package that we have extended for the summer months.

We are preparing our winter calendar and although we are experiencing a hot summer, it will stay wonderful and warm at Warren House. So please join us for your celebrations.

We look forward to seeing you at Warren House soon.

Carolyn Henderson,
General Manager.

Warren House Hosts Academy for Chief Executives & FW De Klerk

Warren House was the venue for this year's Southern Regional Conference for the Academy for Chief Executives (ACE), a historic event for members and guests alike.

The conference featured FW De Klerk, former South African President and a key player in that country's transition from Apartheid as the keynote speaker and a packed agenda focussed on marketing and networking.

This year's Regional ACE Conference was held in May and was well attended by representatives from seven groups across the southern UK region. The central theme for the day was Network for Network, and the line up of speakers was as impressive as the venue itself.

The Conference was opened by Academy Chair Joe Adams, who introduced the theme for the day - networking and marketing. The keynote speaker, FW De Klerk, needed little introduction.

Leadership in Difficult Times

Mr De Klerk spoke about Leadership in Difficult Times, focusing on the speed of change as the biggest challenge facing mankind.

He said that every species on the planet survives through an ability to adapt to change and our survival will be determined by the same factor. Once we had accepted the need to change, there was a need for us to create a clear vision for how we will do so.

He added that having accepted we have to change, we must avoid just pretending to change. In deciding to change, we have committed ourselves and must constantly undertake self-examination, take value based decisions and calculated risks, persevere and accept that change is a never ending process. He followed this speech with a Q&A session, answering with humour, honesty and integrity.

Network for Network

Supporting Mr FW De Klerk were guest speakers Neil Poynter from MC-Cubed Ltd; Andy Lopata, a leading business networking strategist; Grenville Burn of The Mikado Experience; Rob Brown, Personal Marketing Expert; Simon Ricketts from Contact Worldwide Ltd; Daniel Bastide from Thomas Eggar and Fred Edwards from MyFD who conducted plenary sessions throughout the day.

Academy members Simon Lester, Academy Chair Group 7; Damon Segal from AGI; Julian Enoizi from CNA Insurance Company

Ltd and Philip Shipperlee of Performative plc facilitated expert workshops and practical sessions.

ACE Managing Director Mike Burnage brought the day's proceedings to a close, after which the group relaxed over wine and canapés in the luxurious surroundings of Warren House.

This year's conference provided ample time for networking, showcasing of members businesses and sharing of best practice ideas.

The Persian Room, serving as the main break out room, featured an exhibition highlighting suppliers' services and products, while the well appointed function room, reception rooms and magnificent Versailles-styled Mirrored Ballroom were hosts to over 135 participants. Overall, participants felt that this year's conference proved to be "an excellent day" with "nuggets to take away". "FW De Klerk was inspiring" and in the words of many, it "was quite simply outstanding".

The regional meeting for this year was organised by a select committee of Academy members, led by Chair Joe Adams. They included Carolyn Henderson, General Manager at Warren House, Damon Segal, Managing Director of AGI and Richard Brooman, Vice Chairman of Group 11 and Vice Chairman of Invesco Perpetual Investment Trust.

F.W. De Klerk

Mr De Klerk is the head of The Global Leadership Foundation.

He is a former politician, acknowledged as one of the main architects of South Africa's constitutional democracy.

During his presidency (1989-1994) he played a central role in initiating and managing the transformation process that helped to resolve centuries of inter-community conflict.

" I am delighted with the response of all my team here at Warren House. We were under constant scrutiny by the organisers, especially with such an important personality present. At the end, the feedback was simply excellent. "
Carolyn Henderson,
General Manager.

Mr De Klerk welcomed by Carolyn Henderson, General Manager Warren House and Damon Segal, Managing Director of AGI.

This created a basis for peace between South Africa's many and varied communities, including the inclusive negotiations that led to the dismantling of "apartheid" and the adoption of South Africa's first fully democratic constitution in December 1993.

Getty Images at Warren House

During June, Warren House was delighted to have the Lounge and Persian Room given a temporary “make-over” as they became the setting for a stunning photography exhibition featuring entertainment history in the making, kindly loaned by Getty Images Gallery.

The exhibition which consisted mostly of black and white prints, capture the iconic, behind-the-scenes images of some of the world’s greatest stars filmed at Pinewood, Shepperton and Teddington Studios over the past 50 years.

Both Pinewood and Shepperton Studios have become synonymous with British and international world-class filmmaking, home to revered filmmakers throughout the years and some of the most successful features ever produced.

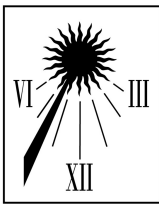

Images from Pinewood and Getty Images Gallery archives were selected to illustrate the extraordinary heritage of these landmark British film and TV studios, which date back to the early 20th Century. In recent years the studios have merged to become the Pinewood Group.
